KENNA'S MODESTY.

He Fears That His Talents are Not

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Senator Kenns said to your correspondent, before leaving Washington, that there was no truth whatever in the dispatch to the Louisville Courier-Journal to the effect that he would ecline the Chairmanship of the National Congressional Committee because of any uncertainty he feels regarding the political weather. He expressed himself entirely the other way. He says aside from private reasons he has for desiring to decline, he oes not consider the choice of himsel or so responsible a position a wise one. He believes there are other more experienced politicians to choose from, men bet ter fitted for the work than he. He does not look upon himself as one who can fill the requirements. If he accepts the posithe requirements. If he accepts the posi-tion, it will be at a greater sacrifice of per-sonal business than he can aford, though he has not yet formally tendered his re-fusal. In the same conversation Mr. Kenna complimented very highly the character of the men chosen by the Republicans as chairman and secretary of their committee. He regards Goff and McPherson as a strong

THE TRUNK MYSTERY. Trial of Brooks for the Sturder of C. Arthur

Sr. Louis, Mo., May 19.—H. M. Brooks, alias Maxwell, on trial for the murder of C. Arthur Preller, was brought into the C. Arthur Freier, was brought into the Criminal Court this morning at 10 o'clock, and waited patiently for Judge Van Waggoner to dispose of unimportant cases on the docket and call his own. The prisoner maintains his quiet demensor and professes great relief at having been allowed to make a true statement of the manner in which Prelier came to his death, and feels confident that public opinion has already acquitted him of in-death, and feels confident that public opinion has already acquitted him of intentional crime. All of the witnesses for the State were present in a body and are kept under strict surveillance by the Sheriff.

L. E. Hunt, present clerk of the Southern Hotel, was the first witness to-day, and his examination and cross-examination consumed the greater part of the morning. He testified that he was cashier of the hotel at the time of the murder. He identified the prisoner as the man, who in April, 1855, registered as "W. H. Lennox Maxwell, M. D., identified a photograph as that of C. Arthur Prelier, who arrived at the house on April 3. His testimony was a repetition of the facts so well known, of the lintimacy of the two Englishmen; Maxwell's apparent lack of money, the disappearance of Prelier; the noney, the disappearance of Preller; the leparture of Brooks for San Francisco, and departure of Brooks for San Francisco, and the discovery of the body in the trunk. During the cross-examination the witness admitted that he had no means of knowing that the man who registered as C. Arthur Prelier did not register that name as an alias; he had gone to the morgue after Prelier's body had been placed there, but could not identify it—could not even state positively that the remains were those of a human body.

Mr. Lyon, a partner at the Southern Hotel, identified the trunks, hat boxes, etc., found in Prelier's and Maxwell's rooms as those belonging to the two men; had seem together often. TERRIBLE DROUTH

Vege ation.
San Antonio, Texas, May 19.-Major D. M. Bash, Paymaster in the United States Army, has just returned to depart ment headquarters from an extended trip throughout southwest Texas as far west as Ft. Davis, in Presidio county. He passed through the center of the great sheep grazing section of Texas, and reports that terrible drouth prevails in Presidio, Pecos terrible drouth prevails in Presidio, Pecos and Crockett counties. These counties embrace an area somewhat exceeding the screage of the State of Maine. Until a fortnight ago the larger part of this country had not been visited by a heavy rain for eighteen months, and the recent rain proves to have done but little good, as the earth was so parched that the water instead of filling the small streams and reservoirs, was soaked up by the burning.

reservoirs, was soaked up by the burning prairies.

Major Bash says that for many miles, as Major Bash says that for many miles, as far as the eye can reach, the country is bare of vegetation, not even weeds growing. Hundreds of small streams are entirely dried up, and water, even for living purposes, is sparingly dealt out at the ranches. He relates several instances that came under his observation, showing the terrible effect of drought on sheep and cattle. On the Meyer Halff ranch, out of 0,000 cattle, 3,000 have died within the past month, and the prairie is literally strewn with carcasses, surrounded by Indians.

The court holds that the crime charged was a conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States, and that the law in such cases applied to the District of Columbia, as well as all other places over which the United States held exover which the United States held ex-clusive jurisdiction. After reciting at some length the laws governing the case, and on which his decision was based, he declared that notwithstanding Ross and Wolfe were Indians, and the Cherokee Nation was an Indian nation, the Supreme-Court of the District of Columbia had jurisdiction in the premises, and it be-came the duty of the court to send the de-fendants to the District of Columbia for trial, where Phillips is already under artrial, where Phillips is already under ar-rest. Wolfe and Ross are under bond to appear in Washington by the first of June.

Government to Regard to Causda' Selaure of Fishing Schoonert-They

PORTLAND, ME, May 19.-The exciteitles is increasing, as is the feeling that the have been received from all along the coast saying that common cause will be made with the Portland fishermen and that a general union for defense will be arranged.

A. R. Whitten, Secretary of the Fish Exchange, said to-day: "Resolutions in favor of arming our vessels will be adopted at a meeting of the Exchange. In the present temper of the owners and fishermen such resolutions could not be made too strong. We shall do something more than adopt resolutions. We shall act. Had I been in Captain Doughty's place with twelve good men at my back, that one officer would never have taken my vessel. I should have said to him, 'Get off, or I will lock you up and take you vessel. I should have said to him, 'Get off, or I will lock you up and take you with me.' The Government is doing dothing for us. We must save ourselves and we shall do it."

Another prominent owner said: "We shall stand for our rights and if the Government will not protect us we will protect ourselves. Had Capt. Doughty's men been armed the estimus would never have tect ourselves. Had Capt. Doughty's men been armed the capture would never have been made. When Capt. Doughty goes to sea again he will carry cannon and small arms, and all other fishing vessels that go out of this port will also be armed and their captains will have direct orders to resist all attempts that may be made to seize the vessels."

The fishermen say that the Government has not given the slightest sign of interest in the matter, and if Portland cannot send word to Captain Doughty, at Englishtown, that the Government of the United States will protect him, then Portland can and will say to him that the people of the State of Maine will stand back of him, and that American vessels cannot be seized at will by the Canadians.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 19 .- United State Minister Cox to-day had a three hours interview with the Sultan. The American Minister presented to His Majesty gifts sent by President Cleveland, consisting of a thousand views of scenery in different parts of the United States, portraits of celebrated and typical Indians, copies of the last census reports, etc. The Sultan was well pleased with the presents and requested Mr. Cox to thank President Cleveland for the unique and valuable gifts. His Majesty said he had recently ordered the taking of a Turkish census, and asked Mr. Cox to co-operate in the work, by giving it the benefit of his American experience. This he promised to do provided his health, his dutles and his Government permitted him. The Sultan expressed himself as greatly interested in the progress of America and ordered that Mr. Cox be shown his private grounds and gardens. The Sultan will give a banquet to Mr. Cox on the 26th inst. terview with the Sultan. The American

John Bright on Sunday Schools, speaking at a mission begaar to night said that the Sunday Schools constitute much that the Sunday Schools constitute much toward the development of the modern feeling, and that the work performed by them was of more importance at present than it had been at any previous period in English history. The powers of monarchy were lessening, and the influence of the aristocrats was fading away. The only power that was growing—a power that would never henceforth be limited—was the power of the people. He claims, therefore, that the most pressing need at the present time was political education by which these could be cultivated in the minds of the people, a sense of their moral responsibility. They should be taught that labor would have its just reward, and that the wealthy should be permitted to onjoy their riches in security.
